"Whoops! Slipped up on typing historical society name! Meant to thank you of the Highlands Ranch Historical Society. I have attended a few of your programs, in spite of a frequent conflict on the meeting dates. That conflict has gone away so that now it just made sense to join HRHS. Incidentally I am also a member of the Roxborough Area Historical Society, hence the typing slip in the previous note."

"Good Morning Mark and Paul

I would like to thank you again for the tour, visit and interview last Monday. It was a very special moment in my life to reflect and to see the Headquarters again.

The Highlands Ranches, Littleton Large Animal Clinic ~ all the people ~ were/are a very special part of my life.

Visiting with Matt Clough, and his tour, brought back very special memories. Very fine cattleman you introduced me to. As with you two, Matt is a great human being.

I hope you all keep in touch.

Thank you all for a very special moment in my life.

God Bless"

"I enjoyed your Society's book.

You know....each of Mission Viejo Company's other communities were built on land that was part of very large landholdings. The landholdings from which the communities of Mission Viejo and Aliso Viejo were carved had great and storied histories...large land grants traced back to the King of Spain. But the entirety of neither of those two holdings was acquired by Mission Viejo Company.

The Phipps holding was different. Essentially, today's Highlands Ranch community is the whole of a landholding that had been "The Highlands Ranch" for decades.

As large the Phipps landholding was, it was perceived that its history as a ranch could have a personal, intimate relationship with the new community that might be developed on it. And, quite importantly, it was perceived that an awareness of the lineage could add value to the land and therefore enhance the profit for the developer.

For better or worse the lineage is still there. I know for a fact that as the project was being planned and implemented, the history of the land was always a consideration as planning and implementation decisions were made.

I am pleased to see that those who now shepherd the community continue to recognized the significance of that lineage. Your publication strongly suggest that the future of the community of Highlands Ranch is in good hands.

Thanks for sharing your book with me."

"Thank you all for the kind "thank you" regarding my talk. My only regret is that when I modified my talk for last night I was not aware I had more information than time to present it. But it was fun and I feed off of the energy of my audience, so if you felt it was good, that is because the audience was good.

Thanks again."

- Jeff B.

"I just returned from the museum and thoroughly enjoyed it. Thanks for putting it on the HRHS agenda. Too bad it was poorly attended but there were plenty of tourists later on. This is a must-see for history buffs. In my 40+ years in Colorado I had never been there. "I'll be back!"

- John H.

"Thank you so much for the lovely get together and tour of Highlands Ranch last Monday. I so enjoyed my time there. I know you all (as well as the docents) had questions about the when the bathrooms (with the colored fixtures and painting) were done. I talked to my aunt and she said that Mr. Kistler's second wife had two sons and she had the bathroom decorated during her time living there. She had the small fixtures installed for them. I know that I and some of my relatives (as well as my neighbor) are interested in attending the lectures on Highlands Ranch this fall. Please, if you would, send me the information so I can pass it on to everyone. Thanks so much, and thanks again for your kind welcome back to the mansion!"
